outlook, and their maximum influence will be exerted in the fall and early winter.

Total cash farm income in 1929 was approximately $10,409,009,000 with a net income, after current expenses were paid, of around $6,109,000,000. The department of agriculture envisions the 1937 wheat crop as the most valuable in 10 years and this supports the view of economists and etailsticians that farm income this year will approximate $9,000,009,000, with a net of around ax billions.

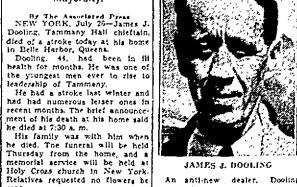

The "Brookmire Counselor" believes the farmers will be "better able than they were in 1920 to buy clotthing, furnishight, radios, automobiles, farm implements and a multitude of other goods and equipment. Not since the abnormal World war period have farmers been as prosperous as today."

In the immediate phase, some of the outstanding "prosperity items" are:

Test of a Leader.

The real test of a leader comes not in victory but in defeat and President Roosevelt, defeated in his suprems court fight more decisively than any President since the League of Nations was hurled back at the broken Woodrow Wilson, faces the greatest measure of ble stature as a politician and a leader.

Until this time President Roosevelt's presidential career has been a series of victories made possible by a congress overwhelmingly of his own pullifical party. Elected on a great national wave of protest against the depression and reelected on the surging awell of returning prosperity for which he was given much credit, he has gone along on the victor's path with one trlumph after another as his program was transformed into legislation by a willing

In such a triminghal procession it is easy for any man to hold his teadership. Defeat means that Mr. Roosevelt must change his taction if he is to hold his power over congrees, his own political party and the American reople.

His past atterances and actions have shown that he is strikingly intolerant of opposition. He has been bliter toward those who tried to obstruct his program and he has been outspoken in volcing this bitterness.

Now a majority of congress becomes the opposition. Among them are many who have been loyal in the support of the Roosevelt program. Whether the Precident has the persuasive ability and the compromising temperament to win these men back to his aide is the question upon which may rest not only the fate of the remainder of the Raosevelt program but even the future of

Some of these men will be candidates for reslection this fall and even now they are fretting to get back home and into their campaigne.

If the President sceles to "discipline" them as he has expressed his displeasure in the past with those who did not think in the same line with him, nothing can stop a party ruptur=

Defeat of the court bill is a saintary thing for America with importance far bayoud the meaning of the law itself. It indicates that a four-year reign of one-man government has been interrupted and that congress has taken its proper place in government.

To the degree that he is willing to recognize this fact and accept his defeat gracefully Mr. Roozevelt has the opportunity to remain the leader of a powerful party at present dominant in American government.

A Board Without Bias.

It must be apparent to any observer that the National Labor Relations Board which has been hearing industrial disputes is not the unbinsed tribunal which the country has the right to scopect.

It is not so much the board's decisions. but in the manner of conducting the hearings that the board has shown it does not come late these inquiries with the open mind that the law demands and the parties expect of a court.

Whenever one alde, in any hearing, recelves consideration denied the other, the nillnence is weakened

Senator Gerald Nye has been outspoken in demanding that the board be reformed and that it abandon the practices which he terms those of a "kangaroo court."

"Justice" which leaves the general public with the imprecion that either side of a controversy has not been dealt with fairly is no Justice at all There is a feeling that the hearings and the judgment of the NLRB are not predicated upon that judicial inipartiality which its position indicates and its decisions cannot be regarded with true respect until this condition is rectified.

Half a Smile.

A Mise Gordon Holmes, Joint managing director of the National Securities Corporation Ltd. of London, has said one of those things Americans dearly like to puzzle

Women, says Miss Holmes, whose formidable title speaks for her importance in bustnors, must get together to stop the backto-the-home movement in Europa. American women have a special responsibility, because "everywhere else men have a half smile on their face when the woman question is raised."

That seems to mean that men still can emile about women leaving their homes to engage in business-"everywhere else." But in the United States, men don't smile any more. It's 100 serious. Misa Holmes squared

These impressions are derived from a aindy of the remarks of Mr. Roosevelt Li his first conference with the press after his conterence with the press alors his court "packing" plan was rejected by a new majority in the senate a coalition of independent Democrats and Republicana. What did the President say? Here were the principal points:

First, he recalled that there was a lot of the president and the process of the principal points.

First, he recalled that there was a for of feeling about the time of Theodore trocevelt for judicial reform and that it took form in 1912 in the campaign of the Progressive party for all kinds of thicke-like the recall of judges and the overrioning of decisions by popular vote, and that his demand had a very great effect on the courte and that the courte listened, Second that custom the Coulder and Third, the President has received an in-teresting check on what happened in the last term of the supreme court, that he fore the 6th of February, the supreme court held the AAA unconstitutional, limit-ing the spending power, and that, after February 5th, through the rockal securely act deciding the AAA ruling was reversed, that, before February 5th, the Guffey act was held unconstitutional, but after Feb-uary 5th the Wasner act was held constimary 5th the Wagner act was held constimany 5th the Wagner set was held consti-tutional. Careful examination of what the President communicated to the great in his characteristically informal fashion leads to a query as to why. If the routle were listening last apring, it was necessary for him to purrue his court packing plan through June and Jul. The answer was given by the President himself when he indicated that the country still wants incurance of the continuity of the objective he has expressed and that this is just as true after a majority of the senate has rejected the court packing plan as il was before that event occurred. Intents and purposes as a matter of historical fact, the Washington minimum wage law was scually upheld by the superfuc court last December and not after February 5th as Mr. Broosevelt contends.

Likewise the President has been misinformed if he thinks the AAA decision of January, 1935, limited the spending power whereas the social accurity act did not. The truth is, as was pointed out in January, 1955, in these dispatches and in the writings of others at the time, the AAA ruling pured the way for exactly the kind of ruling which later apreared in the woelal security act. Race for An Atlantic Air Line

In this What It Means story, Aviation Editor Devon Francis, pluch-hitting for Morgan Beatty, explores the trans-At-hantle flying situation. Nations are rucing to establish scheduled service, is if a race of technicians, of diplamats, or both?

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y., July 26 -The Atlantic ocean is being flown by commercial air fluors three years late. When Col. Charles A. cornering the artichoke market.

He got an indictment charging Gordon with defrauding the govternment on taxes on $1.625.860 for the two-year period 1830-1831.

Waxey fied. He "lammed" into hiding, and Dewey was confronted by a series of death-lienced with nesses—no less than four men murdered to seal their lips from tealitying agaliast the fugitive Gordon.

It was apparent that when the least witness had been "rubbed out," Waxey would calmly reappear and laugh at Dewey,
The only way to stop the murders was to get Gordon.

Dewey got him, capturnig him at his Catakill hunting lodge—a ludicrous figure, snoring open-mouthed, with a revolver under his pillow.

If Dewey was shy on witnesses, he had all the facts. He had amassed 6600 decrements—there were a bodyguard. Dewey shook his head, "I never had a body, kuard and I never with," he salt "I wouldn't give the rate that much saltsfaction."

The Gordon conviction "made" Dewey's reputation, and in 1933 he hecame chief United States at torney.

Lucrative offers tempted him. The underworld breathed easier which he retired to build up a 500-20-20 represents called him back into public service once more.

(Tomorrow: Fighting Terror with Terror.)

If Dewey was say on witnesses, he had all the facts. He had amassed 6,000 documents—checks, adgers and bank accounts—and the jury convicted Gordon in 40 minutes, on four counts of conspiracy and evasion of federal income taxes. He was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

The underworld now began to yet jittery about this brown-eyed, friendly-emiling young prosecutor. Death threats bombarded him. Dewey laughed.
